

ABSTRACT

[0066] Systems and techniques for providing a locker system include providing a locker unit having a housing structured and arranged to be retrofit to an existing key operated locker and an electronically controlled locking mechanism enabling keyless entry into the locker.